Creating a California Culture of Safety

HOW CAN WE IMPROVE TRAFFIC SAFETY IN CALIFORNIA?

Meet face-to-face with like-minded safety stakeholders from the Central Valley and talk about what you would do to improve traffic safety in our region. Nearly 1,000 stakeholders from across the state recently gave their opinions during a series of statewide webinars and two safety summits in the north and south. If you did not participate—or even if you did—this is your chance to let us know what problems you are facing, whether you have an innovative approach that's working, and how the SHSP can make a difference in your community. Given the unique concerns and issues facing the Central Valley, a special workshop has been scheduled to help us identify how we can improve traffic safety in our area.
